Australian Federal Government	Federal Childcare Support Package	Individuals: total of 72 days allowable absences Providers: guaranteed income from the childcare subsidy plus 25% of their total revenue, plus fees from permitted workers parents.	Victorian parents: up to 72 days of allowable absences to cover non-attendance in the next six weeks, and won't pay fees for those days. Melbourne providers: current top up payment of 25% will be boosted by 5%. If the average childcare subsidy rate received by the provider is <50% and if attendance is <30%, then a further top up payment of between 10-25% will be applied.	This is effective from Thursday, August 6 2020 for at least the length of stage 4 restrictions (~6 weeks). A permit is required for children of permitted workers to attend childcare in Melbourne under stage 4 restrictions. These measures are designed to keep provider revenues at 80-85% of pre-COVID levels.
