

IFRS 16 learning programme

June 2019

Harnessing insights to create engaging and interactive modules

Our IFRS 16 learning programme has been developed with input from accounting and learning specialists to ensure engagement within organisations and help guide learners to better understand both the complexities of IFRS 16 and its wide-ranging business impacts.

Comprising of face-to-face and digital components, the programme was created to ensure consistent understanding of IFRS 16 - both the accounting and its commercial effects. The digital learning gives the learner control of their training and simplifies complicated issues using interactive case studies to engage the learner and bring the standard to life.

The extensive experience and technical knowledge of KPMG's Accounting Advisory Services group and the digital learning innovation of KPMG's Learning Academy is brought together to provide an unparalleled learning experience. Clients tell us that the programme achieves great results in embedding IFRS 16 knowledge in the organisation.

They're excellent, the best e-learning I've ever done."
